The Newmarket Era.

Newmarket, Friday, August 9, 1861.

General Summary.

Whicher Council meets at the Wellington Hotel, Aurora, on the 13th inst. Trustees of Schools, throughout the Township should pay particular attention to the notice in another column.

The Leader has backed down from his high Representation by Population pretensions, and now says "it did not say that the Government will introduce a measure to amend the Representation; for of official intentions in that regard we are ignorant." It is rich, certainly, to hear the Leader boast of independence of the Ministry, to say the least.

"Every Family Should Have One," is the heading of an advertisement to be found in another column, relating to Sewing Machines, to which we would direct special attention. The low price at which the article is sold, places it within the reach of all. We are reliably informed that upwards of twenty of these machines are now in operation in Newmarket, among Shoemakers, Tailors and private families.

An Old Game Revived.

The deposed Opposition leader is resolved, it seems, to devote his retirement to the revival of the No-Popery cry. The Catholics have excited his ire beyond measure by combining to defeat him, and he is prepared in return to do his utmost to kindle afresh the sectarian antipathies upon which he formerly built his influence. For three years the Pope has lain on the shelf in the Globe office. High Protestant professions have slumbered soundly all the time. And the probability is, that had Mr. Brown succeeded in deluding the Catholic body into a continuance of their support to himself, we should have heard no more No-Popery roaring from that quarter. Experience, however, rendered further deception impossible. The Catholics like the Orangemen, lost faith in the pretences of a man who alternately coaxed and bullied them; and the recent election terminated political affinities in that direction. The consequence might have been predicted. Mr. Brown had been civil towards the Catholics, not because the old leaven of intolerance had departed from him, but because expediency seemed to dictate terms of courtesy. The motive having vanished the action changed, and from day to day since the election, the reader of the Globe has been able to trace the workings of the old tempter, and to discern the indications of an approaching explosion.—"From the Leader of the 25th ult."

The above comes from the Leader of the 25th ult., and displays most conspicuously the deep hypocrisy of that journal. In 1858, priests, prelates, and laymen were denounced for supporting Mr. Brown, with the bitterest animosity. And its twin brother, the Patriot—issued at the same office, urged the removal of those Orangemen who supported Mr. Brown, from their lodges; but now, in the year of grace 1861, he endeavors to blend in sweet and holy union, the orange and green—lovers of the Roman Catholic with the most fulsome praise, yet displaying such glaring inconsistencies as to reveal to the mere casualist, the deepest treachery and hypocrisy. Whatever the Leader may say with regard to the change of tune by Mr. Brown, tells with ten times more force against itself; for who does not recollect its charge of Sunday conference between a Roman Catholic dignitary and Mr. Brown, at the time of the double shuffle? Who is not conversant with its weekly tirades against Mr. McGee, and the church that acknowledges him as an adherent? Faith!—"What is the use of 'pot calling kettle black'?" Those whom the Leader denounced as unworthy of the right of franchise, at the time "Tom Ferguson's lambs," as they were politely termed, displayed themselves in North Wellington, he now boasts of an union, he then so strongly condemned in Geo. Brown? And why? Simply because he is paid for denouncing those who oppose the corrupt practices of CARTER-MACDONALD & Co. The York Roads bona obligation must be met, and, to our mind, this is part of the price; no matter how humiliating, the work must be done, and the Leader man has got to do it.

Earl Russell.

From Lord English papers, we learn the great Whig champion and statesman took leave of his constituents and the House of Commons, on the 23rd ult., to take a rest among the Peers of the realm. In the Upper House, as Earl Russell. The London correspondent of the Toronto Globe, in speaking of the election consequent upon the retirement of Lord John, says:—

electors of the County, and Mr. Cobden heads the opposition formed in his interest. But though the Whigs hope for him, and though Lord John is known to be a warm supporter of Liberalism, and no Tory, it is very doubtful whether he will get the majority of votes, simply on the ground that his history of political life is so full of contradictions, that he is not likely to be a safe bet. The Whigs, however, are determined to support him at the polls; and if they make the advice his doom is certain; and the more so becomes Lord John's position, as he is himself a popular figure in the city by his professed attachment to the cause of the poor, and a good Whig while in the office, and a good man while in the opposition.

From the above, it is evident that the Whigs are determined to support him at the polls; and if they make the advice his doom is certain; and the more so becomes Lord John's position, as he is himself a popular figure in the city by his professed attachment to the cause of the poor, and a good Whig while in the office, and a good man while in the opposition.

The Wheat Crop.

Mr. J. W. COLLINS, Township Clerk of Whitefish, has left us a number of heads of wheat, gathered indiscriminately from his field, an examination of which confirms the opinion we expressed last week, that some of our farmers will not realize half a crop. From the sample left us, we selected a head which shot and blossomed for forty-three kernels, but on examination we found it contained as follows:—

Plump grains, 4
 Grain, partially deformed and shrunk, 10
 Weevil, 41
 This being the above extraordinary, we took up another head which looked as if it should contain 32 grains, and the following is the result:—

Grains, plump, 4
 Grain, partially destroyed, 7
 Weevil, 48
 The above is Spring Wheat, and was sown during the first week in April last. The rapid manner in which the weevil has spread amongst us during the past two years, tells but too plainly that our farmers must turn their attention to something else beside growing wheat, for a few years to add to the misfortune of some, their fall wheat is badly rusted. Taking all these things into consideration, we are confident, that off the same number of acres sown, not so much will be reaped this year as last. Of course we have heard of no one else's being as above.

The root crops, however, promise well, and a large yield is anticipated. Would it not be well for the Agricultural Society to appoint an Investigating Committee, to make a careful examination of the extent of the weevil-tine of sowing—kind of grain sown—whether late or early sown—what is the most effected, and many other points of interest, and have them reported at the Annual Fall Show, so that farmers might profit by the observations and suggestions that would be offered? The idea strikes us as being one calculated to be of real practical utility—while the information thus obtained will save much valuable time and labor in individual experiments to obtain a desired result.

Kirby's Harvester—A New Machine.

That labor-saving machines have materially contributed to facilitate farming operations, no one at this day will pretend to deny; the only question among so many rivals is to secure the best adapted to the particular purpose for which it is required. Labor-saving implements for Agricultural work, are altogether, as a whole, of modern growth; and every season energetic and inventive minds and busy hands are employed in supplying valuable improvements to those already in actual use. The latest introduced in this section among our farmers, is a combined Reaper and Mower, manufactured at Buffalo, N.Y., by the Buffalo Agricultural Machine Works. During the week, in company with others, we examined one of these machines on the farm of Messrs. Knight, Esq., and all who have seen it have pronounced it the most perfect for farm use. In the first place there is no draft, consequently lessening, by perhaps one-third the power usually required to draw the machine; in fact, it appeared to be no harder work for the horses, although the grass was very wet and the rain falling, than to draw an empty market wagon. It is also so portable as to be taken from one field to another, or from one farm to another without difficulty. Secondly, being all iron, except the platform, pole, and seat, and the weight equally divided, so as to give strength and durability with the least weight of iron, it is not cumbersome or bulky; and, at the end of the season, with very little trouble, may be stowed away in a very small compass. Thirdly, its independent action makes it surpass all other machines yet before the public. The finger-bar works up and down free of the draft, enabling it to go through deep furrows and ditches, among stones and over knolls, without inconvenience to the driver or injury to the machine. It is also kept at work at any height varying from two to eighteen inches above the ground. The rake's position while reaping is perfectly natural, and he performs his work without wrenching or twisting the body. Another important point is, it cannot be clogged in wet grass. In this respect there is a valuable improvement attached to the guards, which enable the knives to clean themselves; and, as we before observed, having but one wheel, can run into a ditch, while the bar runs on the bank and cuts. No two-wheeled machine can do this. Jointed bars are sometimes complicated and cumbersome fixtures to hold it and its load. These objections are removed from the machine under consideration. Another important point is, the rake can deliver the grain free from the next swath; a whole field may therefore be cut before it is necessary to commence binding.

We have thus given our views briefly of the employment, known as Kirby's Harvester, which is a very valuable machine for the farmer. It is now on exhibition next Fall, at the County Show; meanwhile it may be seen by calling on Dr. Pono, of Newmarket.

Newmarket Council.

A special meeting of the above Council was held on Monday afternoon, the 6th inst. The members present were:—
 Minutes of last Council meeting read and approved.
 The Revue said they were not in order. Two resolutions submitted in Committee of the whole and lost without being put to the vote. He could not sign anything but the actual minutes of Council.

Mr. Smith could see no propriety in having them remain there; but the Revue did not like to see them.

Mr. Sutherland thought it was correct enough. It made no difference whether they stood upon the minutes or not.

The Clerk explained why he put them back, and they were demanded in writing by the Chairman of the Committee of the whole.

Mr. Trent said that when he acted in that capacity in future, he should have all resolutions in writing, particularly while he had to deal with men ready to question every act of the majority.

Mr. Smith moved seconded by Mr. Sutherland, that the minutes be confirmed.

Mr. Bophsee wanted to know of Mr. Sutherland, what was the usual course? Mr. Sutherland said, he did not think it was usual to record said resolutions when lost in Committee.

Mr. Bophsee then moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Trent, that said resolutions be erased.—Carried.

The minutes were then corrected and passed.

The Revue then stated the object of the meeting, namely: to consider, by laws in reference to erecting a Town Hall.

Mr. Sutherland asked, if he meant by that, that he would not go through the regular order of the day?

The Revue read the rule which stated that special meetings should be called for a special purpose, which must be named in the notice. If the Council by an unanimous vote, suspended that rule, they might take up other matter.

Mr. Sutherland said he had a petition to present against the By-law, and that a warm and somewhat noisy, not to say angry discussion followed. Finally a resolution was adopted allowing the petition to be introduced, and suspended the rule.

Mr. Sutherland then introduced the petition signed by, he said, 157 rate-payers; but on examination it was found to be a few less. The petition was then read, protesting against the Council action so hastily, and desiring the By-law to be submitted to the people.

The Council went into committee of the whole on the same—Mr. Trent in the chair.

Mr. Smith moved that the prayer of the petition be just and reasonable, and that this Council be prepared to submit the By-law to a vote of the people.

Mr. Hunter said he believed many of the signatures were obtained through misrepresentation. One of the arguments was that the site was no worse than the centre of the population. Now he had taken the trouble to ascertain from the Roll and otherwise, and found it to be as near as any site that could be selected.

There were about 118 or 119 families residing South, and about 120 North of the proposed site; and the resident voters upon the roll there were only some 8 or 10 in favor of the South; while in non-residents the North had a majority of one.

Mr. Sutherland said he was surprised to find that a majority of this Council were disposed to ignore the voice of so many rate-payers. The petition was got up and circulated in a few hours, and had the Council been so hasty, many more might have been obtained.

At this stage of the proceedings we were obliged to leave, on account of other engagements. Suffice it to say, Messrs. Smith and Sutherland opposed the By-law at every stage, submitting resolution after resolution; while the other three members rejected them, and finally passed the By-law.

A very great deal of angry feeling was displayed—and remarks made out of all credence to the Board.

We have not taken any sides in this Town Hall movement, as a party question; but believe a majority of the people are in favor of a Town Hall being erected on the plan laid down in the first petition. The only question of difference, is—the locality. As that is now fixed, and the Council has determined to go on with the work at once—we believe a large majority will sustain the action. We, however, do not approve of the Council going in the face of a petition, unless satisfied sufficient evidence of misrepresentation could be adduced to justify such action. Had the matter been left to a vote of the people, we think the result would not have been different.

The remarks of Dr. Hunter are correct, and the fact that all, or nearly so, of Mr. Boga's voters, would vote for the site selected, would have been carried out. In any case, the announcement will have an important effect in future municipal elections. The voters are nearly all mechanics, and they generally go pretty united to the polls. This must alter the complexion of affairs in the future government of the village.

A Word on the Town Hall.

To the Editor of the Newmarket Era.

More than half the current year has expired, and some strange things have transpired in our midst, to which I would like to direct the attention of the thinking portion of your readers before another election confounds reflection with the action of the Council.

It is always desirable that the people should view the action of those who seek to hold their delegated power, from a quiet standpoint, whence the motives of that action may be calmly and carefully analyzed.

Two matters have much engrossed the attention of the people of Newmarket, ever since the Act of Incorporation.

First: The necessity of having a properly regulated assessment.

Secondly: The necessity of having a Town Hall.

I shall not advert in this letter to the course pursued by the clique of large land holders, who continued for years to burden the smaller rate-payers with a portion of their vast share of taxation, but will proceed at once to consider the Town Hall question.

When a By-law was laid before the people a few weeks since, to provide for the

JOSEPH WOOD.

The truth present to him alone,
 And bid a heartless world atone.
 And what has made thy neighbor Built his cities, given him might
 To construct railroads, dig canals,
 And man his navy's wooden walls?
 Filled his armies, commerce, mines,
 And furnished means for worse designs?
 Europe's tyrants in varied form,
 With tythe and tax chill peasants' homes,
 Military duties that claim
 Long years of poor man's life and fame,
 In useless armies raised and taught,
 To quench all free-born speech and thought;
 And institutions there abhorred,
 Freedom's waters, waded at his command,
 Placed Europe's woe at his command,
 Draw labors forth by magic power,
 Appealing but to common sense,
 Offered praise and timber'd lands,
 To supply pioneer demands;
 While mines and minerals beside,
 Were cheap and liberally supplied.
 For fair the morrow's dappled dawn,
 O'er Columbia's free-born home,
 When stars and stripes she first unfurled,
 And burst in splendor on the world;
 Fair as ever a Fairy's dream,
 Or as visiting angels seem,
 When heaven's choicest blessings bearing,
 To some soul crush'd, oppress'd, despairing.
 See now the change—the haggard jade,
 The woe-lorn soul slavery has made,
 Not equal right nor honest law,
 But factions' weal the breeze must blow—
 A fanatic, elmy freedom,
 Not the real offspring of wisdom,
 But a mongrel, savage brood,
 Born of selfishness, bloated, proud—
 Disdaining all experience,
 Deaf to all common sense,
 Parent of mob filibusters,
 And robbing repudiators;
 Barneys, brawlers, shoulder-cuffers,
 Blazers, burners, ballot-sufflers;
 And more monstrous euphonies,—
 Of freedom's dying agonies,— Condemned ruffians all,
 Not content freedom's funeral pall!
 Then rouse thee!—calmly view the scene,
 Thy darkest shades all light besem,
 In contrast virtues high and fair,
 With great crimes and cruelties there;
 Thy advantages then make known,
 Here fortunes favors must be shown;
 Facilities for wealth and fame,
 Where right and peace and freedom reign;
 Fit attractions for man of sense,
 And virtue's safest, best defence.
 Thy franchised rights, elective law,
 State and Municipal then show;
 A galaxy of wide extent,
 For legal stars, self-government,
 And most efficient to fulfil Thy intelligent public will;
 The sloughs of demagogues avoid,
 And restless ignorance beside,
 Of purer light than shone before,
 Since Columbia's natal hour.
 Then spread this truth through other lands,
 When men to spare—where surplus hands,
 'Mongst migrating Dutch and German,
 Sturdy Swede and Norwegian,
 Whose peaceful industrious life,
 A fit contrast to Celtic strife,
 Thy social fabrics best cement,
 Announcer of such discontent.
 Then use the means, provide transport,
 Make Canada the general resort
 Of Europe's gathering emigrants,
 Whate'er may be their names or wants;
 Happy homes, lands to satisfy,
 None can so well cheap supply.
 If en route for gloom and woe,
 This is the shortest, cheapest, best;
 Let each and all none can compete,
 If energy and wisdom meet
 At thy governing Council Board,
 And country's claims alone are heard.
 See here the great impelling force,
 To Columbia's onward course;
 The annual impulsive power,
 That scatters blessings like a shower.
 Four hundred thousand foreigners,
 Yearly seeking wealth and honors,
 Bring each a hundred dollars wealth,
 Beside their brawny limbs and health,
 Her industry ad, bees, unpeel,
 And onward western currents swell.
 Why not thine, or east thou see,
 Th' advantage of locality—
 In free access to Europe's mart,
 In double price for labour's part;
 On Madawaska's swelling stream,
 Or where the Ottawa's waters gleam?
 Why not thine, or does wisdom fail,
 No patriot breezes swell thy sail?
 Then turn this stream into the west,
 And thus accomplish all the rest;
 The poet's vision realize,
 In this portentous enterprise,
 Which can transmute crude nature's store,
 To teeming cities scattered o'er Thy western wild's utmost bound,
 And smiling plenty strew around;
 Ever maintain, plain, and forest home,
 Where gorgeous vernal beauties bloom.
 Now favoring Genii attend,
 Her public men your wisdom lend,
 From Time's treasured stores to draw
 His maxims axes of woe or woe;
 Give Life's lights in ages past,
 And guide through Nature's stormy blast
 To form a nation's polity.
 Fit for the young, too great, and free;
 With natural wealth, unconfeined,
 Nor aught to check the bounding mind;
 And but needing Wisdom's guidance,
 Though smiling Future's great advance,
 'Mid too much happiness that fires
 Young blood with turbulent desires,
 Nor like Columbia shroud in night,
 Glorious Future's beacon-light—
 The guiding star whose beams impart,
 New life to the oppress'd one's heart.
 May heaven save from such a crime—
 Man's highest hopes for ever twine Around thee, fair land—shouldst thou be
 The last abode of liberty.
 And not in heaven a curse remain,
 Nor yet in Pluto's dark domain,
 But on his head, eternal pour,
 Until he curse his natal hour,
 Whose blacken'd soul to partly bent,
 On vorid selfishness intent,
 Dares to thwart heaven's good design'd,
 With warring meanness grasp thy mind,
 To hide low instincts and vice,
 And exar o'er with shining ice.
 Let railroads spread where commerce
 needs,
 Ship Canals where interest leads
 To turn the western traffic's stream,
 Where Ottawa's pure waters gleam,
 Or sandy Huron's swelling main—
 With woe less garner Europe's wealth,
 And give to trade its needed health;
 Improve each harbor, gulf, and bay,
 For foreign commerce clear the way,
 Till sea-going vessels safely rest,
 On Lake Superior's crystal breast;

And industries of every land,
Attracted by a magic wand,
Good marts—good sum remunerations,
That call wealth from distant nations;
From antique China's flowery home,
And spicy groves where Arabs roam,
Rich shawls of cashmere art, and gems
From Golconda's rich diamond stream;
And England's thousand looms beside,
That with rich products foster pride,
Shall make thee the great entrepot—
Thy exchange mart, by a wise nation
To law.

Between east, west and east again,
Common carrier of the main.
Fair land I see thy greatness rise,
If wisdom guide thy enterprise,
And all resources nurtured are—
Inhabited with patriot care.
Now purified bala, a purging lay,
Yeatriek's snivellers of a day
That show cold chills to pay a gent,
And colder hearts in cold comment—
Lis' down to what I shall indite,
And show your wisdom, not your spite.
One-half the wealth that can be prest
From the rich waters of the west,
Accomplish shall what's pointed out,
And banish war's cold chills and doubt.
Let patriotism lead—wisdom play,
And these great works will soon be done.
This is no hybrid enterprise.
Nor such as hood-wink'd England's eyes,
When she her Rideau bantling made.
At expense, greater far 'tis said.
Then would ope Lake Superior's tide
To world's ships and bid them ride,
Secure from Pigeon River's bound,
To ferce Atlantic's boisterous pound—
That thou might'st 'steak round like a rat,
In cold chills to avoid a cat,
Instead of knocking on the head
All the Grimalink, feline breed;
But fit to try thy giant strength,
And more thy feet and wisdom's length,
Thy statesman's patriotic power,
Greatness to build as rock secure.
To live in future—bulwarks raise,
Such as wise, honest men can praise—
Not posturms that give all controls,
To the low rabble's dastard souls,
And end in ferceest anarchy,
Like Columbia's liberty.

Then statesmen wise, emblam your name,
Live in your country's future fame,
And history shall wreath your brow,
A country's gratitude pure;
When all the mousing race forgot,
Will in their narrow cages rot,
And all of their mortality
Shall be just six feet by three.

Amusement.

☞ Why is your father's mother like the tallest soldier? Because she's a grasping dear.

☞ "Ditch-dorkness" has been so improved in latter times as to read "bituminous obscurity."

☞ The best ship to have command of is friendship. One of the earthly possessions is self-possession.

☞ "William," said a teacher to one of his pupils, "can you tell me why the sea surprises to the vast?" "Don't know, Sir," replied William, "except it be that the 'vast' completes every-thing rise."

☞ Why is a newspaper like the blood of a healthy man? Because it very much depends on the circulation.

☞ At a fashionable party, at which low necked dresses were a very prominent feature, Miss B. addressed her country cousin: "I Sam, did you ever see such a glorious sight before?" "Never since I was weaned," said Sam, blushing.

☞ A lady making inquiries of a boy about his father, an intemperate man, who had been sick for some time, asked whether he had regained his appetite. "No w'am," said the boy, "not exactly; his appetite is very poor, but his drinkatille is as good as ever."

☞ Sir Walter Scott observes that fine company and fine living are very well for a time, but to be kept to it makes one feel like a poodle dog compelled to stand forever on his hind legs.

☞ Always do the best you can, with the expectation of being blamed by your most intimate friends for not doing better.

☞ You will thereby preserve a good conscience and avoid disappointment.

☞ A baker once advertised:—"That as all men need bread, he wishes the public to know that he kneads it. He is desirous of feeding all who are hungry, and hopes his good *work*s may be in the mouth of every one. He is well disposed towards all men, and the best bread people among us will find him, he hopes,
one of the best bread men in the city."

☞ The pure innocence does not always blush the reddest. The truest pleisy is not the most acid. The ri-ghest learning is not the dulllest. The highest wisdom is not the coldest. Grapes and turtles; harps and viols; fair forms and fancies; the blessed sun and summer breeze;—what were taste, and hearing and sight, and the sense of touch, but for these, and these for us?

☞ "Mo, I am going to make some soap for the fair this fall," said a beautiful Miss of seventeen, to her mother, the other day.

☞ "What put that notion into your head Sally?"

☞ "Why, ma, the premium is just what I have been wanting."

☞ "Pray, what is it?"

☞ "A 'New Jersey Farmer,' and I hope he will be a good-looking one."

JUMBLE THE JUDGMENT.—A clergyman in the country had a stranger preaching for him one day, and meeting his beadle, he said to him, "Well Saunders, how did you like the sermon to-day?" "I wala's sir," was rather or plain and simple for me.
I like these sermons the best that jumbles the judgment and confounds the sense. Otherwise, I never saw one that could come up to yoursel' at that."

AN EDITOR SOLD.—The Editor of an English paper was recently presented with a stone, upon which was carved the following letters. The editor was informed that the stone was taken from an old building, and he was requested to solve the inscription. It read:

P O R E	A T T
T E T A	I L L A S
A	I N
	S R—

Enigmas were called in to consult upon the matter, and after an immense amount of time consumed they were informed that the stone was for cattle to run their tails against.

AN ISLAND SWEPT AWAY.—A store recently passed over Rico Lake, near Cobourg, which completely swept away an island called Riorap's Island.

CANBLED BY THE AUTHOR

REV. JOSEPH BELCHER, D. D.

The Life of Jesus Christ is the philosophy of our religion, the basis of all true
Christianity in their purity and beauty.
It is perfect excellence personified, the ceptable to the scholar, as to him who knows no better, but knows his Bible true. Belcher's revised edition contains the history of the Arctics, the life of 500 SHOT DEAD.

Dr. McKENZIE'S DEAD SHOT WORM CURE

[A working Minnie, beyond all conception of skill.] The Medical Faculty of Scotland, as well as England and Ireland, have pronounced it "The best medicine we ever used," and that the Worm Medicine was more good than all other medicines combined. It has about been tested since A.D. 1765, nearly one hundred years ago, almost every son and daughter of Old Scotland can testify. It has always borne its name off.

"Old Dr. McKenzie's Worm Candy-Stick." As it resembles a candy-stick in taste and appearance, and a child calling it is wholly unconscious of taking medicine, and where worms exist the result is beyond description.

It has been used by ages of Iller, J. McKENZIE, Dundee, passed over 500 WORMS THREE DAYS, which testifies, he believes that (without exception), it saved the children of the poor from death, and that testimonials given (God's blessing) to the present proprietor.

GENERAL SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

Restless, restless, starting and grinding teeth in sleep, constipation, ravenous appetite, loss of appetite, pale face, picking at the complexion, loose stools, dry fictions, or agitation, looseness of the flesh, dry cough, breath, &c. &c.

All of the above symptoms will immediately increase to exist by using this medicine once a week. It always gives health, even if the worms exist. It is perfectly harmless even to the most tender infant.

Warranted Purely Vegetable in Combination.

Royal College of Surgeons London. May be consulted for 5 o'clock in the morning till 24 night, in every stage and symptom of disease. The treatment they adopt is the result of upwards of thirty years' extensive practice in London.
YOUNG MEN.
There is an evil habit sometimes indulged in by boys, in solitude, often growing up with them into manhood, and which, if not reformed by them in due time, not only becomes serious obstacles to matrimonial happiness, but gives rise to a series of protacting, la-hious, and devastating affection, of those who give way to this pernicious practice are aware of the consequences, until they find the nervous system shattered, face strange and unbecomingly feelings, and vague fears in the mind.
Self-abuse is one of the most formidable enemies of health, for nothing else in the entire catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the human system, destroying thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system rapidly, wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself.
YOUNG MEN TAKE PARTICULAR

important instrument for the cure of the above diseases. It has been subjected to London, Paris, Philadelphia and New York; it has been declared the only effective instrument ever invented for the cure of Seminal Weakness, a most distressing disease of youth, which produces complete impotency, renders marriage impossible, and, in the end, destroy both body
